

CIBUK - PRESS RELEASE

EMBARGO: Immediate release

EXCLUSIVE:

"Slammed and shut down" - Video interview with outspoken NZ MP

"The time for emotional blackmail has to end," says New Zealand MP Simon O'Connor

A 'no holds barred' interview with very newsworthy statements.

CIBUK's Chairman – who conducted the interview - is available today for comments on an exclusive basis

CIBUK (<https://cibuk.org/>) – the longest-established organisation for freedom, independence and sovereignty in the UK – has just published a video interview with an outspoken MP from the New Zealand parliament – Simon O'Connor. This is the second in a series of interviews with influential people from the UK and from around the globe, produced with our affiliated organisation Facts4EU.Org.

Simon O'Connor MP is intelligent, charming, and straight-talking. He's a member of New Zealand's National Party and has been a member of the New Zealand House of Representatives representing Tāmaki for the last 11 years. He is also a member of NZ's Parliament's Foreign Affairs, Defence, and Trade committee and is its immediate past Chairman.

He is also a former Chairman and a current Board Member of Monarchy New Zealand – an organisation in favour of retaining New Zealand's status as a constitutional monarchy.

In our exclusive interview, Mr O'Connor gives his forthright views on a range of issues of interest to the British and world wide audience. We provide a range of notable text quotes plus the full video.

In this video interview, Kiwi MP Simon O'Connor talks about the Queen and the Monarchy, Brexit, the EU, the UK-NZ trade deal, defence, education, personal freedoms, Covid-19, how to visit New Zealand, the Chinese threat, and wokery and the cancel culture.

There's something in there for everyone, but expressed succinctly in short sound-bites.
